

Information for Day Passes

Preface

Day Passes are for official business only and may only be used to execute an approved task or service and have to be applied for in due time through the respective application forms.

Issue of Day Passes generally happens at the Security Services with the deposit of a valid passport or driving license.

Day Passes must be carried openly in a clearly visible manner, attached to the person's outer clothing.

In accordance with the legal requirements, Day Passes can be issued only for one single day a month to persons who only need to have occasional access to the restricted area; furthermore, the holder of a Day Pass must be accompanied by a person who has been checked according to § 7 German Aviation Security Act (holder of a permanent ID card, valid for the area to be entered) at all times. The escort, respectively the pick up, has to agree to accompany and supervise the holder of the Day Pass at all times. It's only allowed to enter areas for which access is actually required and there must be an official necessity on the part of one of the companies approved at Frankfurt-Hahn Airport.

The maximum amount of people to escort is three carriers of Day Passes. The escort is responsible for the proper check out from restricted areas of the accompanied persons at the airport.

If someone needs to have regular or multiple access to the restricted area, a background check according to § 7 German Air Security Act is necessary. This can only be applied for in combination with a permanent Airport Security Pass.

Day Passes are property of Hahn Airport Operator Company and must be returned in due time (within 24 hours after receipt).

Handling of Day Passes

To provide a quick and timely processing of your application for a Day Pass, please make sure that you complete the application form in detail.

Please submit the application form after your order has been confirmed in the corresponding space provided, with the company stamp, date and signature to the Security Services only. To prevent unnecessary delays when picking up Day Passes, we ask you to submit the application forms at a minimum of 24 hours prior to the date needed to the Security Services of Hahn Airport (Gate 15).
