24 March 2026

Three new destinations in Frankfurt-Hahn Airport's 2026 summer flight schedule

With the start of the summer flight schedule on March 29, 2026, travellers at Hahn Airport will have three new vacation destinations to choose from: Rabat (Morocco), Timișoara (Romania), and Tuzla (Bosnia and Herzegovina). In addition to other attractive warm-weather and vacation destinations, the summer flight schedule at Frankfurt-Hahn Airport offers 38 destinations and up to 130 departures and arrivals per week.

Starting April 1, Ryanair will connect Hahn Airport with Rabat, the capital of Morocco. The route will be offered twice a week. Rabat attracts vacationers, for example, with the Kasbah of the Oudaïas, an UNESCO World Heritage Site surrounded by beautiful gardens.

Thanks to Wizz Air, flights from Hahn to Timișoara will also operate twice a week—starting March 31. The Romanian city attracts tourists with its cultural diversity, among other things: various religious buildings representing a wide range of faiths shape the Romanian city, which became the European Capital of Culture in 2023.

In addition, starting March 31, Wizz Air will launch three weekly flights between Hahn and Tuzla. The city in Bosnia and Herzegovina became famous for salt mining, and to this day, tourists marvel at its salt lake with its white pebble beach. Tuzla is situated amid the hilly terrain southeast of the Majeвица Mountains, offering travelers numerous hiking opportunities. The Hahn-Timisoara and Hahn-Tuzla routes were last offered in the summer of 2023.

FlyOne is expanding its offerings at Hahn Airport this summer: In addition to Chisinau, the airline will begin flying to Bucharest twice a week starting May 11. Wizz Air also connects TRIWO Hahn Airport with the Romanian capital.

In addition to the new destinations compared to summer 2025, the flight schedule continues to offer classic vacation spots such as Palma de Mallorca. With 14 flights per week, the Spanish island is one of the most popular destinations this summer from Hahn, just like London-Stansted. This airport is even served up to 15 times a week in the flight schedule.
